

MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES – CURRICULUM INTENT

ASPIRE – CHALLENGE – ACHIEVE

"Languages for Life"

The Modern Foreign Languages department's ethos is to foster the enjoyment of language by encouraging pride in successful linguistic achievement. We aim to develop each student to his or her potential in the use and understanding of modern foreign languages at a level appropriate to the learner's experience. Students follow an aspirational flight path which prepares them effectively for their next stage of study, allowing them to be challenged and successful whatever their level of ability. We are committed to establishing a supportive learning environment that encourages students to feel confident about taking risks and developing informed opinions about the world around them.

Our curriculum is regularly revised and updated to ensure successful progression from one stage to the next from which we want students to reflect on and enhance their skills, ask questions and enjoy challenge. Students are offered a range of activities via listening, speaking, reading and writing including cross-curricular activities in which we raise awareness of the cultures of the countries of the languages studied. Opportunities for regular recap, assessment and review form a significant part of our curriculum intervention. Curriculum intervention is also a key part to our students' success and throughout every Key stage, students are encouraged to participate in additional sessions. There are opportunities to independently extend students' skills by encouraging the development of literacy, research, practical and investigative skills and building learning competencies which should prepare our students to become life-long learners.

Competency in a foreign language unlocks a person's problem-solving, resilience and communication skills, all of which are essential to employability. We hope that our language students have a greater understanding of other cultures and consider themselves to be world citizens.

By the end of KS4, students should understand and respond to spoken and written language from a variety of authentic sources. They need to speak with increasing confidence, fluency and spontaneity, finding ways of communicating what they want to say, including through discussion and asking questions, and continually improving the accuracy of their pronunciation and intonation. They can write at varying length, for different purposes and audiences, using the variety of grammatical structures that they have learnt. They would have discovered and developed an appreciation of a range of writing in the language studied. Students are expected to know, apply and understand the matters, skills and processes specified in the programme of study. With their deepened knowledge about how language works and enriched vocabulary, this should help them to increase their independent use and understanding of extended language in a range of contexts. Together with a clear understanding of the culture and identity of the countries and communities where the language is spoken and developed language learning skills, this should prepare them for further language study in school.
